Based on the data provided in KIAS for disproportionality, our district needs to address disproportionality (A risk ratio greater than 3.0 needs to be addressed.)

[x] Yes [ ] No

If yes, please explain how you will address the disproportionality.

This district has disproportionate numbers in [redacted]. The IEP team works through the process of determining the use of the DLM assessment based on the individual needs of the student and not by any specific subgroup. This is evident by high ratios in both [redacted]. In regards to the [redacted], this district has a high percent of [redacted] so it makes sense for that ratio to be higher as well. In regards to [redacted] -- we happen to have more [redacted] that qualify for the DLM at this time. We continue to review the information/data in making our determination of the need for the DLM assessment. We will also be looking very closely at the individual results/success of these students in each tested area to help us make a sound decision moving forward. At this time, all of these students qualify and show the need for taking the DLM.

[X] Please provide a narrative that includes the data types and processes that the IEP teams are utilizing to qualify students for the Alternate Assessments (DLM) in the box below and press Save.

The IEP teams look at the following data to determine which assessment is used for each individual student: Cognitive testing data, achievement testing data, DLM Qualification Rubric, adaptive skills assessment, and they also look at the instruction given to each student. Students that qualify for the DLM are also receiving instruction that is tied to the Essential Elements.

The DLM Qualification Rubric is completed prior to and during the IEP meetings. During the meeting, this data is shared along with the other assessment data. The IEP teams make the decision on instruction and assessments for each individual student.

[X] What are the district's next steps to ensure that annually the appropriate test is administered to each student?

IEP teams meet to discuss the appropriate instruction and assessment for students with the most cognitive disabilities. The DLM Qualification Rubric is used to determine if the DLM is the appropriate assessment for each individual student. The students that qualify for the DLM are also being instructed using the DLM Essential Elements. Assessments and instruction are an IEP team decision, but the data from the rubric is used to help drive this decision.

Based on the data for our district, our LEA needs additional training.
