ELA
1 subgroups

Math
1 subgroups

Science
0 subgroups

USD 344 shows disproportionality in 1 subgroups for two of the 3 subject areas, ELA and Math. This disproportionality can be attributed to the small number of students participating in the DLM for each subject area, where any representation from a subgroup can result in a skewed ratio.

USD 344 commits to review our policies, practices, and procedures document and update our DLM guidelines if necessary. We also commit to continual training of staff with the resources available about making the decision to assign a student to the DLM, including the Participation Guidelines and the Rubric. Additionally, the DLM Coordinator for the ECKSEC will review all students assigned to the DLM to ensure documentation exists to ensure the DLM decision is consistent with information provided in other sections of a student's IEP so that we have only the appropriate students participating in the DLM.

Percentage of students performing at target or advanced on the DLM for the school year.

ELA:	0%
Math:	0%
Science:	100%

Please provide a narrative that includes the data types and processes that the IEP teams are utilizing to qualify students for the Alternate Assessments (DLM) in the box below and press Save.

Our IEP teams use the Kansas Alternate Assessment Participation Guidelines rubric to determine whether or not a student should take the DLM. We begin by looking at testing scores (IQ and adaptive) to see if the student qualifies based on score. The IEP team also looks at the data collected in the classroom setting to answer the remaining questions on the rubric. If a student has a preponderance of scores in the "Most Significant Deficits" category, they will take the DLM. If not, they will take the general assessment in the spring.

What are the district's next steps to ensure that annually the appropriate test is administered to each student?

In the future, in addition to the above steps, the Testing Coordinator for the ECKSEC and each district will review all students assigned to the DLM to ensure documentation exists to ensure the DLM decision is consistent with information provided in other sections of a student's IEP so that we have only the appropriate students participating in the DLM.
